

Two thousand years ago, ten priestesses sealed evil within an extinct volcano on Easter Island. As long as they remained together, creating a stronghold of both mind and body, the beast could not escape. When slave traders capture the group 1750 years later, their descendants must separately begin a journey to northern climes, gathering in one place to recreate the stronghold. Unfortunately, awareness of their purpose has been lost over the generations, and they must be nudged in the direction of their chosen life-mates. They came together to prevent Yellowstones fourth and most devastating supervolcano, and they found love. In The Roundup, shy Matthew finds naive Penney and then loses her, only to find her again and, again, lose her. In the Maverick, tough Acrasia meets innocent Michael. The two women surmount all obstacles hindering them from both their ultimate task and their hearts desire.
