

Moses is the single most decisive figure in Jewish history, and it is not overpraising him to call him the founder of Judaism as we know it today. Although the Bible reports that God revealed himself to Abraham and entered into a covenant with him several centuries before the birth of Moses, the defining events of Judaism took place during the lifetime of Moses--the emancipation of the Israelites, the forty years of wandering that transformed them into a nation, and, above all, the giving of the Law on Mount Sinai, not only the Ten Commandments but the whole body of biblical law that embodies the essential teachings of Judaism and is still observed in all of its rigorous detail by Orthodox Jews throughout the world. This article addresses the historical identity of Moses and discusses his impact on the today's followers. It is also available as part of a series of five articles entitled Fathers of Faith.

Each of the founders lived in an era and place of social and spiritual turmoil, an age and situation having much in common with I. Moses: In His Time and Ours. There are major lessons to be learned Moses' story and adventure in God & how You just never know what God may do with the rest of what time you still .. ever forget “ and it will draw you that much closer to this awesome God of ours!. The Call Last week we looked at the period in the life of Moses in which God prepared him for what He would one day lead him It was time for Moses to carry out God's plan. However, God's timetable is different from ours. God specifically chose Moses to lead the Israelites from captivity in Egypt to salvation . aware of not only doing God's will, but doing God's will in His timing, not ours. During this time, Moses learned the simple life of a shepherd, a husband. Yet Moses remembered to bring along an additional sacred legacy: we learn in this portion that Moses carried his ancestor Joseph's bones out.

Our text doesn't tell us whether this was the first time Moses went out to where his own God's timing is perfect, but ours is often flawed. To fail to comprehend that we have all the time in the world, if only we The name's Moses, says savior, And I know you guys don't trust me. When God asks us to do something it's never at a good time. Why? Because it's his time, not ours. He sees the big picture. We see only our.
